WHAREORINO SCHOOL

PROCEDURE 66: DATA AND INFORMATION MANAGEMENT

The Public Records Act 2005 sanctions Archives New Zealand to more actively care for documents that are identified as important for New Zealand's history.

This legislation covers all public records, including school records.

Whareorino School keeps records for certain time to comply with legal requirements, for example education and tax legislation. State and state integrated schools also have broader responsibilities to retain some school records for archival purposes and cannot destroy or dispose of any school records without Archives New Zealand's authorisation.

Guidelines:

The School Records Retention/Disposal Schedule is the authorisation that Archives New Zealand has given. It supports schools in their record keeping as it identifies the school records that can be discharged or destroyed, and those which must eventually be sent to Archives New Zealand.

How we collect personal information?

Whareorino School takes all reasonable steps to ensure that information collected:

- is necessary for the School's purposes;
- is relevant to the purpose of collection;
- is collected in a fair way, without unreasonable intrusion; and
- is as up-to-date and complete as possible.

Principle 3 – collecting information from a person

When collecting information from an individual, it is important that the individual should be aware:

- that the information is being collected. For instance, schools should not, as a general rule (there are exceptions), video or audio tape a person without that person's knowledge;
- why it is being collected and what is going to be done with it, including whether the school is going to disclose it (and, if so, to whom and why);
- who will see the information. Only the people who need the information to do their job should see it (see principle 5);
- who is collecting the information and where it will be stored;
- if the collection is a legal requirement and whether the supply of the information is voluntary or compulsory;
- the consequences if the information is not supplied; and
- the individual's rights of access to and correction of the information.

How We Use Your Personal Information?

- 1. Whareorino School will take all reasonable steps to ensure that personal information is protected against loss, unauthorised access, modification or disclosure, and other misuse.
- 2. Personal information collected and held by the School will only be accessed and used by people employed or engaged by the School as required in the fulfilment of their duties and in a manner consistent with the original purpose.
- 3. Information may be used or disclosed to organisations outside the School as permitted by the Information Privacy Act/Health Records Act.
  - Information may be used and disclosed for the purposes of collection. It may also be used or disclosed for secondary purposes in certain circumstances, such as where the individual consents to such use, or where the use is authorised by law.

Personal information, including sensitive information and health information, may be used for the following purposes:
